ROLE MANUAL

Business Development

for Aisha

You bring the work in. You qualify it, agree what we charge, get it signed, and hand it over in writing so nothing is lost between you and delivery.

How a day goes

Three moments. Everything else finds you.

First thing

- Open Sales. Your whole board, by stage.
- Open To send. Anything Zain has checked and cleared for a client.
- Open Partner leads. Enquiries off the website land here.

Through the day

- Move deals as they move. The board is the record now, not the sheet.
- The moment a deal looks real, press Ask talent. Do not wait for the yes.
- Every deal carries a next step and a date, or it is not being worked.

Before you log off

- Every enquiry today is a brand on the board with a next step.

Where your work sits

You start everything. The earlier you press Ask talent, the less of the client's patience is spent waiting for names.

BUSINESS DEV Find the brand	BUSINESS DEV Agree the deal	TALENT Find creators	FOUNDERS Agree what we pay
TALENT Book and paper them	ACCOUNT MGMT Content and approvals	ACCOUNT MGMT Results to the client	FOUNDERS Invoice and pay

Your part

The screen you will live in

Drawn, not photographed, so it stays true when a button moves. The numbers are explained underneath.

1 Columns are stages. Move a deal by changing its stage on the card.

2 A brand can hold several deals. Barakat has run eighteen campaigns under one name.

3 "Worth" only counts deals carrying a figure, and says how many do not.

4 Ask talent. Press it when the deal looks real, NOT when it closes.

5 "Talent sourcing" means they are already finding names for this one.

6 A deal with no next step and no date is not being worked.

Where things live

The menu down the left of the screen. This is all of it.

Today	What your day is made of
Decisions	Everything waiting on a decision from you
Requests	What clients and colleagues have asked for
Guide	What every screen is for
WORK
Pipeline	Every creator we owe something, and what happens next
Clients	The brands we run
Creators	The master database, with cost and sell pricing
Campaigns	Live work and where each creator has got to
Finance	In, out, and committed but unpaid

What you actually do

In order. The strip on each card is what to click, as you click it.

1 Take the enquiry

The moment it arrives.

GO TO Clients › Partner leads

1. Everybody who filled in the form on the website is here, newest first.
2. Open the one you are taking and write down what they asked for.
3. Put your name on it so nobody answers it twice.

2 Qualify it

Before you quote anything.

GO TO Clients › Sales › Add a brand

1. Budget, market, category, timing, who signs.
2. Without a budget there is no brief, and no brief wastes everyone.
3. Add the brand on the board and write what you learned on the deal.

✓ Next: A founder decides whether we chase it and writes what to look for.

3 Ask talent to start

The moment the deal looks real. NOT when it closes.

GO TO Clients › Sales › Ask talent

1. This is the one that used to cost us weeks. Talent heard when a campaign locked.
2. Press it on the deal and write what you are looking for: market, category, size.
3. Say WHAT, never how many. A client signing fifteen may need to see hundreds.
4. Talent get it on their day, with a roster already open and your brief on it.

✓ Next: Sourcing runs while you are still negotiating, so names exist when they ask.

4 Send the quotation

Once Zain has checked it.

GO TO Clients › To send

1. You do not mint the link and you do not build the numbers. Zain does both.
2. When it is checked it appears here and you are told.
3. Copy the link into your OWN email. The client hears from you, as always.
4. Then press "I have sent it" so it is on their record and not just your sent folder.

✓ Next: The client opens it and picks. You see what they chose without asking.

5 Sign and hand over

When they say yes.

GO TO Clients › Brands › Open the brand

1. Get the agreement signed and uploaded against the brand.
2. Hand over in writing: what was sold, at what price, by when.
3. Introduce the account manager to the client yourself.

✓ Next: Account management owns the client from here. You go and find the next one.

From a first meeting to names on the table

One job, followed the whole way, with the real numbers.

Start to finish

WEEK 1	Meeting with Minimalist. Skincare, UAE, wants to launch in six weeks. Add the brand, add the deal, stage Met them.
WEEK 1	You get a budget out of them: AED 57,000. Put it on the deal. A deal with no budget is not a deal yet and the board shows that honestly.
WEEK 2	It feels real. Do not wait. Press Ask talent and write what you are looking for: skincare and derm, UAE, 50k to 300k, studio capable.
WEEK 2	Say WHAT, never how many. They may need to show sixty before the client picks fifteen, and a number from you reads as a target.
WEEK 2	Aqsa starts the same day. Two weeks ago she would have started after signature, and the client would have waited.
WEEK 3	Zain checks the quotation and it appears in To send. You copy the link into your own email. The client hears from you, as always.
WEEK 3	Press I have sent it. Now it is on their record, not only in your sent folder.
WEEK 4	They pick. The deal moves to Won and account management takes the client.

What good looks like

Everything on the right has actually happened here and cost us something.

✓ What good looks like

- Ask talent the moment a deal looks real, weeks before it closes.
- Every deal has a next step and a date, or it is not being worked.
- The budget goes on the deal as soon as you hear it, even if it is a range.
- A lost deal keeps its reason. "They went with two brands only" is worth more than the deal was.
- You send the client link yourself and then say you have sent it.

× What has actually gone wrong

- Waiting for signature before telling talent. This is the one that has cost us weeks on every campaign so far.
- Telling talent how many creators to find. It reads as a target and they stop short.
- Quoting a price that is not on the rate card without a founder saying so.
- A board full of deals with no next step. It looks busy and tells you nothing.
- Handing a client over in a conversation. If it is not written down, it did not happen.

Words we use

They mean something specific. A roster is not a list, and cost is not sell.

Brand
A company we are talking to. Becomes a client when a deal is won.

Client
A brand that has bought something. They have an account and can log in.

Deal
One conversation about money. A brand can have many, over years.

Campaign
A deal that was won and opened. Real creators, real money.

Roster
The creators sourced for one client. Has rounds, a brief and an owner.

List
A standing question: "fashion, UAE". Answers itself. Never client-specific.

Cost
What we pay a creator. Founders and talent only. Never shown to a brand.

Sell
What we charge a client. A creator with no sell price cannot be sold.

Quoted cost
What we assumed when pricing. Rarely what we end up paying.

Agreed rate
What a creator actually accepted. The only number that is real.

Request
Something somebody is waiting on, with an owner and a date.

Proposal
A priced roster sent to a client to choose from.

Share link
A /p/ link a client opens without logging in. Mint it, then send it.

Enrolment link
How a creator signs. They enter their own bank details; nobody types a fee.

The ladder
The rungs a booked creator climbs: briefed, content in, posted, paid.

Held
Stopped until a founder answers. Nothing has happened yet.

Rules that cost money

Each one has already cost us something.

- Never quote a price that is not on the rate card without a founder saying so.
- You never see cost. Only what we sell for.
- A handover said out loud is not a handover. Write it down.
- An enquiry nobody has answered by tomorrow is a lost enquiry.

Every screen in the platform is explained under Guide in the menu. If something here does not match what you see, the product is right and this is out of date. Say so and it gets reprinted.
