ROLE MANUAL

Talent

for Aqsa

You turn a brand's request into real creators who have said yes, at a price we can sell, with signed paperwork and content that lands on time.

How a day goes

Three moments. Everything else finds you.

First thing

- Open Requests. Everything anybody is waiting on from you.
- Open Today. The rest of what is yours.
- Open Pipeline. Every creator we owe something.

Through the day

- Work from Pipeline, not from memory or WhatsApp.
- Each row tells you the verb. Do that one thing.
- If it only happened in chat, nobody else can see it.

Before you log off

- Nothing red in Pipeline without a reason written down.
- Move it, note it, or nudge whoever is blocking it.

Where your work sits

Business development hands you a brief before the deal closes. You hand a priced, booked roster to account management.

BUSINESS DEV Find the brand	BUSINESS DEV Agree the deal	TALENT Find creators	FOUNDERS Agree what we pay
TALENT Book and paper them	ACCOUNT MGMT Content and approvals	ACCOUNT MGMT Results to the client	FOUNDERS Invoice and pay

Your part

The screen you will live in

Drawn, not photographed, so it stays true when a button moves. The numbers are explained underneath.

1 The count that matters. Not how much work exists, how much is LATE.

2 Anything with no owner. Take one and it becomes yours, and everyone can see that.

3 "A client asked" means a brand is waiting on a human answer. These go first.

4 Click the row to open it. The brief is inside, with a roster already waiting.

5 Your name on a row is the only thing that stops two people doing it twice.

Where things live

The menu down the left of the screen. This is all of it.

Today	What your day is made of
Decisions	Everything waiting on a decision from you
Requests	What clients and colleagues have asked for
Guide	What every screen is for
WORK
Pipeline	Every creator we owe something, and what happens next
Clients	The brands we run
Creators	The master database, with cost and sell pricing
Campaigns	Live work and where each creator has got to
Finance	In, out, and committed but unpaid

What you actually do

In order. The strip on each card is what to click, as you click it.

1 Find creators for a brand

Starts when a brief arrives. Ends when the client has a list to choose from.

GO TO Creators › Rosters

1. The ask arrives in Requests with a brief. Press "I have this".
2. A roster is already open for that brand. Everything you find goes there.
3. Start in Lists: Food UAE, Beauty UAE and the rest are always up to date.
4. Then the master database. Add anyone new by handle and we pull their numbers.
5. Nobody tells you how many to find. A client signing fifteen may need to see hundreds.
6. Record what they charge and what they agreed. Those are two different numbers.
7. Hand the list up for review when it is ready to be seen.

✓ Next: Leadership reviews for quality and budget. Expect removals. That is the point of the review.

2 Keep the pricing queue empty

Every day. It is the shortest job here and the most expensive to skip.

GO TO Creators › Pending rates

1. This queue is literally the creators nobody can sell yet.
2. A creator with no sell price cannot go on a quote at all.
3. Add the cost you agreed. Leadership sets what we sell them for.

✓ Next: A founder prices them and releases them into the master database.

3 Sign a creator

Once the client has picked them and the campaign is confirmed.

GO TO Finance › Enrolments

1. Create the enrolment. The creator gets their own signing link.
2. They fill in their details and bank information themselves.
3. Never type a creator's bank details for them.
4. Chase anyone who has not signed. The screen shows who.

✓ Next: A founder approves the payment once the work is delivered.

4 Get the content in

From the agreed date until the post is live.

GO TO Campaigns › Chasing

1. This screen is who is late, who is due, who has gone quiet.
2. Collect the content and the creator's own insights screenshots.
3. Put the posted link on the creator's row when it goes live.

✓ Next: Account management reports it to the client.

A brief on Tuesday, a roster on Thursday

One job, followed the whole way, with the real numbers.

Start to finish

TUE 9AM	A request appears: Source creators for Minimalist. Skincare and derm, UAE, 50k to 300k, must film in studio. Aisha raised it, and the deal is not even signed yet. Press I have this.
TUE 9AM	The roster is already open under the request. You never make one.
TUE	Start in Lists. Beauty UAE is 53 people and it is current, because it answers itself every time you open it. Thirty of them fit.
TUE	Then the master database for the rest. Anyone genuinely new, add by handle and we pull their numbers ourselves.
WED	Nobody told you to find twenty. You find enough that the client has a real choice, which on skincare is usually sixty before they pick fifteen.
WED	Record what each one charges and what they would accept. Those are two different numbers and only the second one is real.
THU	Hand the roster up. Hajar clears it and the client sees it the same day.
AFTER	Hajar negotiates the final rate. You raise the enrolment links, and each creator signs their own agreement and enters their own bank details.

What good looks like

Everything on the right has actually happened here and cost us something.

✓ What good looks like

- Everything you find goes on the roster, the same hour you find it.
- A price is recorded as two numbers: what they ask, what they agreed.
- A creator you cannot place in a country is still worth adding; say so in the note.
- When a brief is missing market, category or budget, you ask before you start.
- You take a request the moment you start it, so nobody duplicates your work.

× What has actually gone wrong

- Sourcing into a spreadsheet and uploading at the end. Nobody can see progress, and the half you have done looks like nothing.
- Recording only the published rate. We then sell at a margin that does not exist.
- Guessing a country code on a phone number. We once sent a Saudi creator's signing link to a stranger in the UAE.
- Agreeing a fee in WhatsApp and typing it in later. The number drifts, every time.
- Leaving a request unclaimed while you work on it. Somebody else starts it too.

Words we use

They mean something specific. A roster is not a list, and cost is not sell.

Brand
A company we are talking to. Becomes a client when a deal is won.

Client
A brand that has bought something. They have an account and can log in.

Deal
One conversation about money. A brand can have many, over years.

Campaign
A deal that was won and opened. Real creators, real money.

Roster
The creators sourced for one client. Has rounds, a brief and an owner.

List
A standing question: "fashion, UAE". Answers itself. Never client-specific.

Cost
What we pay a creator. Founders and talent only. Never shown to a brand.

Sell
What we charge a client. A creator with no sell price cannot be sold.

Quoted cost
What we assumed when pricing. Rarely what we end up paying.

Agreed rate
What a creator actually accepted. The only number that is real.

Request
Something somebody is waiting on, with an owner and a date.

Proposal
A priced roster sent to a client to choose from.

Share link
A /p/ link a client opens without logging in. Mint it, then send it.

Enrolment link
How a creator signs. They enter their own bank details; nobody types a fee.

The ladder
The rungs a booked creator climbs: briefed, content in, posted, paid.

Held
Stopped until a founder answers. Nothing has happened yet.

Rules that cost money

Each one has already cost us something.

- A creator with no sell price cannot be sold. Price them or they do not exist to us.
- Never guess a creator's country code. We once sent a Saudi creator's signing link to a stranger.
- The agreed rate is the one we use, not their published rate.
- A creator signs their own paperwork and enters their own bank details.
- Nothing is real until it is on the screen. WhatsApp is not a record.

Every screen in the platform is explained under Guide in the menu. If something here does not match what you see, the product is right and this is out of date. Say so and it gets reprinted.

Talent

AQSA

OPEN FIRST

- Requests. Take what is yours.
- Anything late, before anything new.

THE ONE RULE

- If it is not on the screen it did not happen. WhatsApp is not a record.

TWO NUMBERS, ALWAYS

- What they charge. What they agreed. Never just one.

NEVER

- Never guess a country code.
- Never promise a creator a fee before Hajar has agreed it.

STUCK?

- A brief with no market, category or budget is not a brief. Ask.
