ROLE MANUAL

Talent

Names, prices and paperwork

You turn a brand's request into real creators who have said yes, at a price we can sell, with signed paperwork and content that lands on time.

Following FZC

Internal, not for clients

1 November 2026

How a day goes

Three moments. Everything else finds you.

First thing

- Open Requests. Everything anybody is waiting on from you.
- Open Today. The rest of what is yours.
- Open Pipeline. Every creator we owe something.

Through the day

- Work from Pipeline, not from memory or WhatsApp.
- Each row tells you the verb. Do that one thing.
- If it only happened in chat, nobody else can see it.

Before you log off

- Nothing red in Pipeline without a reason written down.
- Move it, note it, or nudge whoever is blocking it.

Where your work sits

A founder releases a brief to you before the deal closes. You hand a priced, booked roster to account management.

BUSINESS DEV Find the brand	BUSINESS DEV Agree the deal	TALENT Find creators	FOUNDERS Agree what we pay

Your part

The screen you will live in

Drawn, not photographed, so it stays true when a button moves.
The numbers are explained underneath.

1 The count that matters. Not how much work exists, how much is LATE.

2 Anything with no owner. Take one and it becomes yours, and everyone can see that.

3 "A client asked" means a brand is waiting on a human answer. These go first.

4 Click the row to open it. The brief is inside, with a roster already waiting.

5 Your name on a row is the only thing that stops two people doing it twice.

Where things live

The menu down the left of the screen. This is all of it.

Today	What your day is made of
Decisions	Everything waiting on a decision from you
Requests	What clients and colleagues have asked for
Guide	What every screen is for
WORK
Pipeline	Every creator we owe something, and what happens next
Clients	The brands we run
Creators	The master database, with cost and sell pricing
Campaigns	Live work and where each creator has got to
Affiliate links	Every campaign\
Finance	In, out, and committed but unpaid

What you actually do

In order. The strip on each card is what to click, as you click it.

1 Find creators for a brand

Starts when a brief arrives. Ends when the client has a list to choose from.

GO TO Creators › Rosters

1. A founder releases the brand. It reaches you on Today with the brief.
2. The brand's roster is already open. It replaces the campaign sheet.
3. Search the master database first with Add creators.
4. Anyone new: Paste a list, rows from a sheet or one handle per line.
5. Nobody tells you how many to find. A client signing fifteen may need to see hundreds.

✓ Next: You price each one on the same roster, then send the good ones for review.

2 Price them and send them up

As you find them. A creator with no price cannot be sold.

GO TO Creators › Rosters › Open the brand's roster

1. Press Price on a row. Record what they asked and what you agreed.
2. Their currency, and what it buys: reel, reel also on TikTok, full scope.
3. Read Last time first. Amber means over budget or well above last time.
4. Tick the good ones and press Send for review.
5. The rest: Not this time, with a reason. They stay in the database.

✓ Next: A founder sets sell prices and clears them, or sends some back with a note.

3 Work an open call

When a superadmin has put an open call live on the roster.

GO TO Creators › Rosters › Open the brand's roster

1. Press Copy a DM with my link and send it to creators on Instagram.
2. Our WhatsApp agent asks their price, dates and email for you.
3. Whoever answers lands on the roster with a quote, credited to you.
4. Yours now means a person should talk to them. Open Conversations.
5. Reply, then press Hand back to the agent when you are done.

✓ Next: They go up for review like any creator you priced yourself.

4 Sign a creator

Once the client has picked them and the campaign is confirmed.

GO TO Finance › Enrolments

1. Create the enrolment. The creator gets their own signing link.
2. They fill in their details and bank information themselves.
3. Never type a creator's bank details for them.
4. Chase anyone who has not signed. The screen shows who.

✓ Next: A founder approves the payment once the work is delivered.

5 Get the content in

From the agreed date until the post is live.

GO TO Campaigns › Chasing

1. This screen is who is late, who is due, who has gone quiet.
2. Collect the content and the creator's own insights screenshots.
3. Put the posted link on the creator's row when it goes live.

✓ Next: Account management reports it to the client.

6 Give each creator their link

On a campaign that sells, once its retailers are set up.

GO TO Campaigns › Open a campaign › Links

1. Every creator on the roster has their own short link per retailer.
2. Press Copy all links and send each creator only their own.
3. Their clicks, carts and sales are counted against that link.

✓ Next: A superadmin decides when the brand sees the numbers.

A brief on Tuesday, a roster on Thursday

One job, followed the whole way, with the real numbers.

Start to finish

TUE 9AM	Today shows a new brief: Minimalist. Skincare and derm, UAE, 50k to 300k, AED 3,500 to 4,000 a creator. A founder released it, and the deal is not even signed yet.
TUE 9AM	The brand's roster is already open. It is the sheet now. You never make one.
TUE	Search the master database with Add creators. Thirty fit. Anyone genuinely new, Paste a list straight from your notes.
TUE	An open call is live on the roster, so you send Copy a DM with my link to twenty more. The agent asks their price while you keep sourcing.
WED	Nobody told you to find twenty. You find enough that the client has a real choice, which on skincare is usually sixty before they pick fifteen.
WED	Price each one: what they asked, what they agreed. One asks 6,000; Last time says 3,500, and the row turns amber. You agree 3,800.
THU	Tick the good ones, Send for review. The rest get Not this time with a reason. A founder prices and clears them the same day.
AFTER	Leadership negotiates the final rate. You raise the enrolment links, and each creator signs their own agreement and enters their own bank details.

What good looks like

Everything on the right has actually happened here and cost us something.

✓ What good looks like

- Everything you find goes on the roster, the same hour you find it.
- A price is recorded as two numbers: what they ask, what they agreed.
- A creator you cannot place in a country is still worth adding; say so in the note.
- When a brief is missing market, category or budget, you ask before you start.
- You take a request the moment you start it, so nobody duplicates your work.

× What has actually gone wrong

- Sourcing into a spreadsheet and uploading at the end. Nobody can see progress, and the half you have done looks like nothing. The roster is the sheet.
- Recording only the published rate. We then sell at a margin that does not exist.
- Guessing a country code on a phone number. We once sent a Saudi creator's signing link to a stranger in the UAE.
- Agreeing a fee in WhatsApp and typing it in later. The number drifts, every time.
- Leaving a request unclaimed while you work on it. Somebody else starts it too.

Words we use

They mean something specific. A roster is not a list, and cost is not sell.

Brand
A company we are talking to. Becomes a client when a deal is won.

Client
A brand that has bought something. They have an account and can log in.

Deal
One conversation about money. A brand can have many, over years.

Campaign
A deal that was won and opened. Real creators, real money.

Roster
The creators sourced for one brand, for its whole life. It replaced the sheet.

Not this time
Let go for this brief only. Still in the database; the reason follows them.

Open call
A campaign card creators answer on WhatsApp. The agent collects their price.

Following Track
Short links per creator. Clicks, carts and sales, shown to the brand once released.

List
A standing question: "fashion, UAE". Answers itself. Never client-specific.

Cost
What we pay a creator. Founders and talent only. Never shown to a brand.

Sell
What we charge a client. A creator with no sell price cannot be sold.

Quoted cost
What we assumed when pricing. Rarely what we end up paying.

Agreed rate
What a creator actually accepted. The only number that is real.

Request
Something somebody is waiting on, with an owner and a date.

Proposal
A priced roster sent to a client to choose from.

Share link
A /p/ link a client opens without logging in. Mint it, then send it.

Enrolment link
How a creator signs. They enter their own bank details; nobody types a fee.

The ladder
The rungs a booked creator climbs: briefed, content in, posted, paid.

Held
Stopped until a founder answers. Nothing has happened yet.

Rules that cost money

Each one has already cost us something.

- A creator with no price cannot be sold. Record it on the roster or they do not exist to us.
- Not this time is not a no. Give the reason; it follows them to the next brief.
- Never guess a creator's country code. We once sent a Saudi creator's signing link to a stranger.
- The agreed rate is the one we use, not their published rate.
- A creator signs their own paperwork and enters their own bank details.
- Nothing is real until it is on the screen. WhatsApp is not a record.

Every screen in the platform is explained under Guide in the menu. If something here does not match what you see, the product is right and this is out of date. Say so and it gets reprinted.

QUICK CARD

OPEN FIRST

- Today, then the brand's roster.
- Anything late, before anything new.

THE ONE RULE

- If it is not on the screen it did not happen. WhatsApp is not a record.

TWO NUMBERS, ALWAYS

- What they charge. What they agreed. Never just one.

NEVER

- Never guess a country code.
- Never promise a creator a fee before leadership has agreed it.

STUCK?

- A brief with no market, category or budget is not a brief. Ask.
